By PAUL Y. ANDERSON, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 14.-President Roosevelt and other responsible heads of the Democratic party are wholly in sympathy with the aims and accomplishments of the Senate Civil Liberties Committee, and party henchmen who wish to make it appear otherwise would better start looking for new jobs. One of them, in fact, will find it necessary to do so immediately.

The National Young Democrat, which has made its appearance once a month since January, 1936, as "the official publication of the Young Democratic Clubs of America-3000 clubs-4,000,000 members," will appear hereafter under new editorial management, if it appears

Such were the decisions reached here last night, after a busy and somewhat exciting day, in which the Post-Dispatch correspondent strove to obtain an authoritative explanation of the latest issue of the National Young Democrat, which contained two articles denouncing the Civil Liberties Committee's investigation of the antiunion terrorism in Harlan County, Kentucky.

The issue also contained three

In seeking to ascertain why the official publication of "4,000,000 young Democrats" had gone to extraordinary lengths to defend the coal operators of Harlan County, and to condemn the Senate committee which investigated the operators' labor practices, the correspondent interviewed a number of important personages. AND KILLED AT DOOR OF HOME

J. J. Dunn, 758 Goodfellow Blvd., Had Hole Torn in Arm by Shotgun Blast.

MURDERER HID BEHIND PILLAR

Was 'Bouncer' in Gambling Club: He Had Also Served Terms for Two Murders.

John J. Dunn, a "bouncer" at Vic Doyle's East St. Louis gambling place, who served prison terms in Illinois and Michigan for two murders, was shot and killed at 3:50 o'clock this morning as he was about to enter the Ormond Apart-ment, 758 Goodfellow boulevard, where he lived with his wife and step-daughter.

At first the police investigation was conducted on the theory that the murder had something to do with some sort of a labor racket, since Dunn carried a membership card in a hotel union. As the inquiry proceede it became apparent that Dunn's gambling conne probably resulted in his murder.

Dunn had parked his automobile at the curb and had ascended the one step to the stoop in front of the apartment entrance, when he was fired on from close range with a shotgun in the hands of the uni-dentified killer, who was believed to have been hidden behind a pil-lar. The charge tore a gaping wound in his right arm, at the shoulder. He fell on the concrete stoop, with his feet holding the swinging door ajar and his head hanging over the step.

Davis' Decision An appeal was taken today by 43 river1front property owners opposing the Jefferson Memorial Park States District Judge Charles B.

Davis, Monday, denying a preliminary injunction against Federal and St. Louis city officials.

The appeal, to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, which was made with the official consent of Judge Davis, asks that his decision Body be reversed and the case remanded him, with directions that the injunction be issued as sought.

David H. Robertson, attorney for the objecting property owners, filed an assignment of errors, listing 49 alleged errors in Judge Davis' ruling. The chief ground on which the Court refused a preliminary injunction was that, in the court's view, jurisdiction in the case was in doubt. Member Who Voted Against Her Says "Cocktail Rumors" Were Not an Issue.

By the Associated Press.

SAUGUS, Mass., July 14.-The school committee here voted last night, 3 to 2, against re-appointing Isabell Hallin as a high school teacher and against granting her a public hearing on its action.

The teacher's attorney. Daniel J. Canning, said he would seek a writ of mandamus in Supreme Court for her reinstatement as a teacher.

In a public meeting, Committeeman Paul Haley, who with Chairman George McCarrier supported the 26-year-old teacher of English, accused "some of my colleagues of spreading rumors about Miss Hal-

He said the teacher was "on the skids long before the matter of her reappointment came before the board."

"It was connived," he shouted pounding a table, "it was timed. It was rushed through."

Committeeman Waldo Russell, one of the three who opposed the teacher's reappointment, asserted Miss Hallin was "lighter than all the other teachers combined." Voting with Russell were Committee-man Harry Wentworth and Miss Maria Smith, once a teacher.

Russell declined later to amplify his assertion that Miss Hallin was "lighter than all other teachers, combined." He said that the teacher was "behind in keeping up her ranking book and the book in which she keeps plans for classroom work." More than 300 persons crowded into the high school auditorium to which the meeting was transferred after the committee had held a Miss Hallin was not present.

Several times the crowd cheered Haley and booed Russell, drawing from McCarrier a warning the hall would be emptied if there were further outbursts.

"In the name of democracy," Haley shouted, "an American girl is entitled to her day at the bar, even as a murderess He charged the majority action

Associate Judge William Lauer of the board was based on "rumors and street corner talk," and challenged the three members who opposed Miss Hallin to produce one iota of evidence against her." Russell replied he first heard the "rumors" about Miss Hallin from could be used only to pay $769,715 in a "church member." "But we were not basing our ideas on rumors," he retorted, "I vote as my conscience dictates, and old fogey, an old fossil, but I can take it, and I'd just as soon be classed as such.'

U. S. Appeals Court Decides Prosecution Must Prove Knowledge of Charge.

To obtain a conviction for conspiracy to harbor a fugitive from Federal justice, it must be proved that the defendant knew the criminal was wanted for a Federal offense, the United States Circuit Court of Appeals decided here yesterday in one of the first appellate court interpretations of a new law.

On this point, the conviction of Mrs. Faye Fullbright, sentenced to two years imprisonment for harboring two bank robbers in her tourist cabin at Hickman Mills, Mo., was reversed and the case remanded for new trial in United States District Court at Kansas City. She was tried and convicted by a jury ast November.

"To be guilty of such conspiracy, he person charged has to have knowledge that Federal warrants have been issued," Judge Seth Thomas wrote in the opinion in which the other judges concurred. Mere knowledge that the fugities are evading officers in general or that a State had issued warrants for their arrest is immaterial, he added.

ment to prove that she had knowledge of the issuance of the Federal warrants," he concluded, "and the observation of the Government that it usually will be impossible under the statute to prove knowledge by available evidence, is without merit. "No official of the Young Democratic Clubs, and, of course, nobody connected with the Democratic National Committee, had any knowl edge or warning of this issue of the deception practiced on officials of the work of one man, who took advantage of their absence from the city to perpetrate this thing.

"Anyone who knows the friendship which exists between the administration and Senator La Follette, will realize the absurdity of any implication that a responsible element of the Democratic organization would stoop to such a thing." "Regretted" by Club Officers.

Late last night the correspondent caught up with Wickham and Carraway, president and secretary, respectively, of the Young Demo members), and of their "official publication. Tidings of the pursuit and of its purpose already had reached them. They were agitated, but Wickhem had a statement pre pared, as follows:

The paper declared Air France bought 20 single-motored Bellanca planes as interme diary for the Spanish Government The planes were really bombers, out were purchased as mail planes. the paper declared.

By the Associated Press.
WILMINGTON, Del., July 14.— Twenty airplanes recently constructed at the Bellanca Aircraft Corporation plant in New Castle for the Hanover Sales Corporation are ready now for shipment. G. M. Bellanca, president of the corporation, said last night.

Bellanca said he understood the planes had been resold by the Hanover Sales Corporation of New York City to Air France for use as mail planes in that country. He said he knew nothing of reports in Germany that Air Franc intended selling the planes to the Spanish Government for use as bombers. He said, however, that these planes, like many others, could be easily transformed into bombers.

FOUND DEAD IN MALT TANK

Ernest Castelhun of Anheuser Busch Had Complained of Heat. Ernest Castelhun, a maltmaster at Anheuser-Busch, Inc., fell into a 200-bushel tank of moistened barley at 3 p. m. yesterday at the brewery's malt house, Ninth and Pestalozzi street, and was dead when found. It has not been de-termined whether he collapsed from natural causes or suffocated after falling into the tank. His body was removed at 3:45 p. m. and the barley in the tank was destroyed.

A widower, 59 years old, Castelhun resided at 3108 Illinois avenue with distant relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lieber. Mrs. Lieber reported that he had been complaining of the heat, Man and Woman, on Way From Detroit, Accused in Shooting Last Fall.

Lois Nicolas, known also as Ann (Babe) Miller, who are under inlictment for the murder of Walter Welch, a transient killed Oct. 2 on an East St. Louis street by bullets directed at another man, will returned today for trial to East St. Louis from Detroit, where they were arrested at the request of East St. Louis police. The long search for them was ended, when information that they were together at a Detroit hotel was obtained by East St. Louis police from a source which was not disclosed. Mrs. Nicolas told authorities that her husband, Lawrence Nicolas, is serving a term in the Missouri penitentiary for a holdup, and that her mother in St Louis is keeping her three-year-

SCHOOL BOARD ADOPTS BUDGET OF $12,232,995

Ignores Renewed Demand by Mark D. Eagleton for Cut in Payroll of Non-Teaching Corps.

In adopting a $12,232,995 public school budget for the fiscal year which began July 1, the Board of Education last night ignored a renewed demand by Mark D. Eagleton, member, for reduction of the annual payroll, outside the teaching corps, by at least $256,848.

The budget was approved by a vote of 11 to 1, with Eagleton casting the only dissenting vote. His outspoken objection to many of the salaries on the non-teaching payroll was a departure from the accepted custom of the board, which frequently has ironed out differences of opinion in private. He even complained that he had re-ceived no answer to his letter on the subject to the Finance Committee a month ago. The committee chairman, James J. Fitzgerald, told him this was an oversight.
"I cannot believe that this board

resents constructive criticism and, therefore, prefer to believe that the charges made were found to be un-answerable," said Eagleton. "I submit that a casual survey of the list of job holders and the salaries paid to them, will lead any disinterested person to the inevitable conclusion that the board should mmediately begin a campaign of Criticizes Pay of Custodians. He asserted that the annual payroll of $600,000 for school custodians was excessive, adding: "I have no particular grievance against the custodians. I believe that all of them should receive a substantial and fair return for their services, I do know, from a study of other figures of well-managed concerns, that our budget is completely out of proportion with the amounts expended for this same character of work by other concerns. I do not want any of the employes under-

Eagleton suggested a careful investigation of the work of many employes in upper salary brackets and criticised the policy of annual increases of wages, up to set maximums, as a reward for continued

Appropriations in the budget, details of which have been published, exceed the estimated income of $11,-219,625 for the year by $1,013,369. The excess will be drawn from the board's surplus.

Wants High Labor Standards.

On motion of Mrs. Haymer Lowenhaupt, a committee was appointed to find a means whereby the board could reject bids for supplies not conforming to satisfactory labor standards. Eagleton sec-onded the motion, which was adopted unanimously. Named on the mmittee by President Francis C. Sullivan, were Mrs. Lowenhaupt, chairman; Henry P. RAIN PREVENTS FIRST GAME OF CARDS' SERIES WITH PHILLIES

By J. Roy Stockton

PHILADELPHIA, July 14.—The trouble-riddled Cardinais were here today for a series of three games and anxiously wondering how their seven-man pitching staff is going to handle the chores of the immediate future in the National League pennant race. The Phillies are bad enough, with conditions what they are, but after the contests here, there will be four games in three days with the very tough Giants of Bill Terry and that is what the Redbirds are worrying

The games with the Phillies will be played in two days, today's scheed contest being prevented by

SALE! regularly $1.98 TUB FROCKS with Paul Dean still nursing his repaired arm; Dizzy on crutches, with big toe trouble, and Jim Winford in a Pittsburgh nospital after an emergency appendix operation, only six men remain on the active pitching list. They are Lon Warneke, recently in a slump; Bob Weiland, who was knocked out of the box by the Pirates Monday; Jess Haines, who should have at least a week between assignments; Mike Ryba, Ray Harrell, Silas Johnson and Abe White. "We'll just have to get along the best we can," Manager Frisch said this morning, attacking a slab of ham with determination as he looked a pair of fried eggs squarely in the eyes. "Yes, we'll do the best we can and pray for rain. Rain yesterday and again today gave Warneke extra rest. After Warneke I don't know. Perhaps it would be best to send White against. the Phils in the second game and Si Johnson in the third. Johnson always has done well against the

How about the Giants? That was something else again and Frisch groaned. Four games in three days. "We'll have Weiland for the first game at the Polo Grounds," Frisch ntinued after he got through with a couple of dandy groans.

"And that's about as far as I can see. Maybe Dean will join us by that time. Or maybe it will rain. Or perhaps White may hold Giants. I'd sure like to see this club get going again. You know we still have more than 80 games to play and a year ago the Giants were down in fifth place. They won the pennant, so, if it's just time we need-" Of course, it isn't just time the Cardinals need. They must have Dizzy Dean back and they must have more pitching strength than they've had. That's an old story. Even the loss of Winford, which would have been a blow at this time last year, was not particularly erious. Jim had been far off form and it was generally believed that he was trying to conceal the fact that he had a sore elbow. Certainly Winford did not pitch this year, at any time, as he did last season. There was no zip to his fast ball and his knuckler didn't do any baf-fling tricks. Frisch hopes that when he recovers from the appen-dix operation, his arm will be sound

With Pepper Martin on the side lines for a time with a lame throwing arm, Terry Moore and Stanley Bordagaray will battle for the center field job, which will go to the man who shows the best hitting power. Or if they both hit well, Moore will play center and Borda-garay will continue at third base. Just a Sinecure. THE Eye in the Sky has ren-dered the modern racing judge's job just a $100 a day sine-cure. It has also made the world safe for the officials, and even for the race track.

The judges are not permitted to use their own discretion at all times in placing horses. If any of the leaders are lapped, a camera finish is mandatory. Perhaps the judges will find the race not close enough to need the photo-graph and so may decide it themselves. But if it turns out doubt-ful they fall back on the photograph. They take no chance of provoking a riot.

And that's the life-saving feature of the Eye. Formerly, when mere man attempted to call the close ones, an irate mob made up of the losing contingent gathered about the judges' stand and made the welkin ring with protests. Occasionally they became more vigorous and tried to take the place apart, in an effort to ROBINSON'S NEW RECORD FOR 880 TO SUPPLANT 800-METER MARK ALSO By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 14. - Elroy Robinson, the California school teacher, who bettered the world record with a 1:49.6 half mile at the World Labor track meet Sunday will also be credited with a world record for the 800 meters according to Dan Ferris, secretarytreasurer of the A. A. U.

The old 800-meter record, like the half-mile or 880-yard mark was 1:49.8. The metric distance is six yards short of a half mile but in the record books Robinson's record time will be listed as 1:49.6. The former record for the half was held by Ben Eastman, who was also the co-holder with England's Tom Hampson, of the 800-meter rec-

> Scofic, who had parted from his comrades in St. Louis before police there overtook them, was arrested Sunday by State police near Canandaigua, as he was driving with a man and a woman, bound for Bos ton. Scofic admitted that he had been in Boston recently and had committed several holdups there. In one of these he took the driver's license of a Boston man, and this license, which had expired, was shown by him when the police > stopped him for questioning. The woman in the car said she was Helen Scofic, Joe's sister. The man said he was William Krantz. All are from Detroit.

Three Escaped From Prison.. Scofic, who is 26 years old; Alvin Mott, 19, of Monroe, Mich., and Raymond Rusch, 19, of Flint, Mich., escaped from Michigan Prison at Jackson Feb. 19, using a 28-foot collapsible ladder. All were serving terms for robbery, Scofic having robbed a priest's home in Dearborn, Detroit suburb.

Within six hours after their escape, the three stole four autoobiles, carried away two motorists and tied one to a tree. They took a truck from a garage in Quincy. Mich., and abandoned it in Coldwater, near the Indiana line, where they stole another car and headed for St. Louis. The car was reported as having been seen in Maplewood, but Scofic got it safely out of the Louis area, after having left Mott and Rusch in St. Louis

HEADS NEW CI O DRIVE LAST OF DALTON GANG DIES IN LOS ANGELES

He Served 14 Years in Kansas Prison - Became Realty Dealer and Movie Writer.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, July 14.-Emmett Dalton, last survivor of the Dalton gang that terrorized the Middle West in the early nineties, died at his home yesterday. He was 66 years old.

Dalton was shot 23 times and escaped lynching in a fight with officers and citizens of Coffeyville, Kan., Oct. 5, 1892. His older brothers, Bob and Grat, and Dick Broadwell and Bill Powers, were shot to death.

Dalton was given a life sentence for bank robbery, served 141/2 years and was pardoned. He came to California 17 years ago, joined a church, and started a campaign for prison reform.

He became a real estate dealer and contractor, wrote a book, "When the Daltons Rode," and enfor Industrial Organization to direct its drive to bring two gaged in movie work, both as a nario writer and actor. "Murders are never committed in cold blood," Dalton once told

AWARDS FOR MOTION PICTURES?

A valuable suggestion for the potential betterment In that case, there is a deadlock, and of motion pictures has come from Dean Carl W. This refers to for courage to follow his convictions to the bitter spring wheat, the bulk of the Canadian output. For- end. MAYOR LA GUARDIA'S FIGHT.

Tammany Hall is casting about feverishly for a candidate to lead it against Mayor Fiorello LaGuar-Your paper is well informed on all the tee has just been enlarged to intensify the camof the State Legislature every four years, rowers who have been sued on loans considered to be Mr. LaGuardia four years ago, are pained at his reward their aid with patronage. Yet the saner elements among them recognize that he is the only man they can nominate who would have a chance to beat Tammany

> To an outsider, it would appear that Mayor La-Guardia deserves re-election on his record. He has made the first real effort since the days of John Purroy Mitchel to divorce politics from vice in New York City. He has ventilated and cleansed hidden recesses of official corruption and has moved against the manifold forms of racketeering which grew up by sufferance of his predecessors. He has also been concerned to give the city improvements in its administrative machinery and to carry out constructive social measures to bring it up with the times.

Sentiment outside New York City will tend to favor Mr. LaGuardia's re-election for the reason that all the forces of machine politics, national and local, are being marshaled against him.

Postmaster-General Farley is using the influence of the national administration to rally Tammany's scattered legions. In this, he is only exercising the penchant he has shown for allying the administration with bossism throughout the country, from the less vicious small-town machines to such rotten municipal tyrannies as that of Tom Pendergast in Kansas City. Mayor LaGuardia's defeat would be a sore blow to the forces which are trying to make popular government function again in our boss-ridden cities. Fortunately, the Mayor is a good political showman, as well as an honest public official, and his chances of becoming the first "reform" Mayor ever to be reelected in New York City are rated as excellent.

Political Straws in the Missouri Delta

Southeast Missouri farmer says he feels kinship for his Congressman's troubles since his own little flyer in politics; three issues have recently risen on which special interests in district have sought to bring pressure on Representative; the few are vocal, but the question is, Do they always speak for best interests of the region?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: GOOD many years ago, I ran for Con-Agress, not very seriously. Filed on the last permissible day in disappointment and protest. A man who I thought was eminently qualified and who had been intending to make the race met with an in-terested group and walked out on us at the last moment. My protests were loudest and the group turned to me. In the heat of moment, I said, "By thunder, I will." I filed without consulting a single politician, and, of course, was soundly beaten Although my lone adventure into politics did not affect the destinies of the nation, it had, I think, one lasting effect upon me. I am almost certain I have been more interested in Congressmen and have observed them more closely ever since the time I went through some of the motions of getting to be one. I have often speculated on how I would perform in their places. I say to myself, Would I try to use my own head, or would I represent my constituents?" And if I chose to do the latter, would I (1) jump when the letters and telegrams from the vocal few bombarded me; or (2) adopt as a sound rule, always to go against the demands of the vocal few, after having learned that their demands are almost always contrary to the interests of the silent many? I am afraid that neither method would work out right every time.

am not offering advice to our M. C. Rather, sympathy and understanding. I think a man who has a seat in Congress has a pretty hot spot to sit on. A twoyear term is hardly long enough for it to cool down comfortably.

We have a right good man in Congress now from our district. I am fond of him and know a little about some of his problems. During the past few weeks, he has been subjected to heavy bombardment on three occasions from organized groups in my county alone.

The first of these recent offensive movements from my county was occasioned by the proposal to establish a Resettlement colony for Negroes in our midst. Resolutions of protest against this outrage were hastily prepared and signed by numerous citizens In this instance, the organized protest undoubtedly represented the will of the ruling majority. But even so, the poor Congressman may not have been able to proceed with untroubled mind.

He may be acutely aware that the amazingly rapid change from traditional sharecropping in the Delta cotton country to a day-labor economy constitutes a radical so cial upheaval, and creates a situation highly charged with dynamite. Our M. C. may feel it is none too soon to experiment with "Resettlement" or something to meet the conflicts and changes certainly in store for us.

No. 2 bombardment came in response to reported utterance by the President to the effect that the Missouri floodway lands ought to be bought outright by the Government. That the lands then might be leased back to present owners and farmed from villages to be established back of the "set-back" levee, thus relieving the Govern ment of moral responsibility for loss of life and property in future floodings.

This idea looked good to large land-holders, especially loan companies and recent speculative purchasers at bargain prices. A delegation was sent to Washington to help our M. C. give support to the President's kindly thought. The practicability of the plan has not yet come in for attentive anelysis, so far as I know. Now what about the M. C.'s "constituents" in this case? For one owner living in the floodway, there are perhaps 50 to workers. Then there is the half or more of the county's population living back of the floodway levee who might be adversely affected by a disorganization of the countaxable resources. All these constituents have not yet been heard from. Here is a place where our M. C. needs to use his head, and perhaps apply the general rule that the desires of the vocal few most likely run contrary to the interest of the silent many. Bombardment No. 3 saw the heaviest guns brought into action. Meetings! Meetings! Meetings! It has been more of a general engagement in which several counties joined forces. The generalissimo, a cotton nerchant prince working far in the rear of the battlefront, the smaller dealers, factors and ginners (not all of them) and land speculators led the charge. Farmers were supposed to be the troops, but to their credit they remained complacently pacifist against eagle-screaming defense of the Constitution and unrestrained oratory quite unrelated to matters of fact.

The "casus belli"? The submission to Congress of the new farm bill sponsored by the American Farm Bureau Federation Among other far-reaching provisions, the new bill seeks to relate the production of cotton to the markets that exist for it in this country and tortured world. background of the bill is a knowledge of nesses that afflict the world, and of our own ndustrial and financial trends, that, if long continued, will most surely bankrupt a disorganized agriculture. The background of the inspired oratory which characterized our meetings was an entire ignorance or forgetfulness of these matters. The profits of cotton merchants. dealers and ginners, of course, depend not at all upon the solvency of growers or the comfortable bellies of the workers, but upon the number of bales they produce to be ginned and juggled. Our M. C. attended one of the "meetings" and quieted the troubled waters somewhat by expressing his opinion that the new farm bill would not come up for passage in this session of Congress. But what impression did he take back to Washington with him? Does he think that he heard the expressed will of his constituents? I think that he is too wise for that.

My notion is that if all our cotton farmers and cotton workers, down to the hungriest share-cropper, could be got together and have the bill read carefully to them after a 15-minute matter-of-fact exploration of its background, the sovereign will of all these constituents would be expressed in a 10-to-1 vote in favor of the new bill.

Then they would hotly insist that we see to it that administrative rulings under the act shall be adjusted to our borderland situation (we are both and neither the North nor South), and that our thousands of acres of new ground clearings shall be given citzenship rights under the new program.

Parliamentary Tactics.

The Court controversy has reached the parliamentary tactic stage in the Senate and with tempers and words getting shorter an explosion may occur any day either on the drastic Senate rules or the court plan itself.

The trouble started late yester-day after Senator Copeland (Dem.), New York, had read a blistering attack on the New Deal and its "juvenile mentalities" and urged the President to save the Democratic party of Jefferson, Jackson, Cleveland and Wilson by dropping

While the Senator was launching on a rambling speech against the White House proposal, talking in a conversational tone reminiscent of his unsuccessful filibuster against the Isle of Pines treaty many years ago, President, Pro Tem Pittman of Nevada ruled that if the New York Senator yielded the floor to permit consideration of the President's veto of a bill to continue low interest rates on Government farm loans, he would lose the floor and would have to be recognized for a second speech tomorrow.

Both sides in the court con-troversy objected to the ruling of the chair, pointing out the iniquity of the decision. Pittman ruled that if Copeland yielded to allow acting Majority Leader Barkley to make a motion to recess the same consequence would follow. much wrangling, the situation was finally cleared up by Copeland himself making the motion to recess until noon today. With this motion he coupled a unanimous consent agreement that he be allowed to continue his speech today with ng on with his first speech.

The net result of the parliamentary row was that the President's veto was not considered after it had been received. There is no telling when it will be considered.

Copeland sail last night that it would take him at least three hours to complete his address, much of which is excerpts from books and magazines. He will be followed by Senator Black (Dem.) of Alabama, a supporter of the Roosevelt plan.

Copeland, who has been at odds with the President for more than a year, chided his Democratic colleagues for permitting the President to dictate legislation. He in-sisted that the Roosevelt administration would punish those who did not support the court plan.

"We have not changed; those who have taken possession of our organization are the men who have changed," he said. "It has become heretical even to suggest that ad-ministration proposals may be un-

The trouble, he said, lay in the fact that instead of consulting with men like Robinson, King, Harrison, George, Ashurst, Glass, Walsh, Lewis, Overton, Burke, Bailey, Logan—great lawyers or economists—the President had relied upon the "juvenile mentalities" to write

"No wonder." said Copeland, "that the Supreme Court reluctantly, no doubt unhappily, was forced to declare certain measures unconstitutional "To attempt to bend the court to the will of one man, no matter how great or well-beloved, will always be resisted by free people," Copeland said. "It is unthinkable that unconstitutional laws should be declared constitutional by ravishing the court." The administration picked up a vote in the closely divided Senate Senator Murray (Dem.), Montana, joined those publicly committed to he court bill. Murray, colleague of opposition leader Wheeler, was the fortieth Senator to declare for the administration's compromise bill. His announcement made the lineup even again, with 40 for, 40 against, $100,000 Fire in Kansas City. KANSAS CITY, July 14. — Fire which spread into five buildings of the central industrial district here last night caused damage estimated unofficially at $100,000. Five firemen were injured, none serious-The blaze could be viewed from far as 25 miles away at its height. The fire apparently started in the five-story S. & K. Material Co. plant. The Burlington freight depot was damaged.

ISN'T ALL WE OFFER SAVERS!

Because of our liberal rules for figuring interest, your account earns more. Here are some reasons:

- 1. All deposits start to earn interest on the day you make them.
- 2. You can get interest right up to the day of withdrawal of any sum by giving 30 days' notice.
- 3. If you draw money without giving notice your withdrawal is deducted from your latest deposits, instead of from your balance at the previous interest period.

These are some of the advantages of the 6-Advantage Savings Account, offered by this bank alone.

We invite you to open one any Monday until 6, any Saturday until 1, any other week day until 4. These hours are another advantage.

Emperor Meets Ministers. In the presence of Emperor Hiro-hito, the chiefs of the Cabinet explained the latest moves in the crisis to the Privy Council, the most powerful organ of government in Japan. Gen. Gen Sugiyama, the Minister of War; Admiral Mitsumaso Yonai, Minister of Marine: and Koki Hirota, Foreign Minister, laid the questions before the Emperor's advisers.

Authoritative sources said last night that Japan is insistent on economic exploitation of North China and will use force if necessary to carry out its plan. Heavy reinforcements have been dispatched to the battle zone and the sources leclared Japan will send even more if the situation continues serious force a final show-down on old differences.

Latest reports from Tientsin headquarters of the Japanese army in North China, indicated re-inforcements, supported by heavy artillery and aircraft, had streamed across the borders from Manchoukuo and Korea,

Heads of national economic, civil, commercial and industrial organizations and international societies pledged to the Cabinet their united support in the national emergency.

To All Employes

Many employed people suffer from lack of ready cash. Some because they do not want to cause themselves or others emharrassment by asking favors of friends or relatives; others because they prefer not to use complicated loan or finance plans. It is to these employes that we direct this notice: If you are able to repay small regular payments on the loan plan you select, you can get cash from us on a simple, straightforward basis. You can get up to $300 as quickly as you need it. You repay in payments arranged to fit your purse. Whatever your need for cash, we invite you to come in and discuss with the property of the Japanese Driven Back.

The fighting early today was thought to have been an outgrowth of that of yesterday in which a heavily supported Japanese detachment was driven back to the gates of the city before they were able to retreat toward Fengtai.

Heavy skirmishing broke out at 1 a. m. outside the gate to the Yung-ting-men section in the southern quarter of the Chinese city. Brisk machine gun and rifle fire punctuated a steady exchange of shells from trench mortars. Firing ceased abruptly half an hour later, only to be resumed soon, and guns was heard in the city until

The Prosecutor said that, on the basis of the reports made by deputy sheriffs as to the Brooklyn elec ion, he did not believe any serious irregularities occurred there, but that he would ask that the September grand jury be instructed to investigate this and other election irregularity charges, including those connected with the Caseyville election of April 6. In its order for drawing of the April jury, the County Board of Supervisors ordered the drawing for "the 1937 term," whereas it should have specified the April, 1937, term. The error was discovered by counsel for a defendant indicted on a charge of conspiracy to defraud. It was the State's Attorney's plan to let the matter rest until September, but the demand for action in the Brooklyn case forced a public statement.

THE other day I heard one of these poetic movie actors expounding a theory he's worked out for a happy married life. He says, "It's very simple—all you have'ta do is to stop every once in a while and remember your wedding day. Instead of looking at your wife the way she is today, close your eyes and see her as you did on your wedding day." This might work out from the man's —you come in a rented tuxedo and a borrowed car! "The next highest score went to a North-South team that did not even buy the contract.

"Here the bidding was:

"Personally, I don't think much of North's final double, but I admit that he certainly went after the defense in a big way.

"The heart king was opened, and South signaled with the 10 spot. Ignoring this, North shifted to a low diamond. South won with the ace and, after a long huddle in which he came to the conclusion that both the bidding and North's play signified a void of clubs in the North hand, returned a club. North ruffed and underled the ace of hearts, to put South back on with the queen and led another club, thus putting North's two little trumps to yeoman service.
"At still another table the North-

South defense blew sky high against a five spade contract. The heart king was opened, but South was afraid that North had started with six hearts and, thus, gave a low signal. North then shifted to the diamond king. South overtook and led back a diamond. Curtain! West ruffed, drew trumps, and chucked East's losing heart on a long club.

By sheerest chance, a man may run across some friend or some enemy of hers-and he can't even tell the wife what the other woman had on, what shade her hair was, this season; whether she was getting fat or thin or even what she said. To all her questions he will answer cheerfully, "Oh, she looked all right"—and let it go at that. It's "mental cruelty"—that's what! But men are like that! If they

Another device used to quiet them was to put them in a revolving chair and spin them around until poor things! One of the brightest spots in the annals of medicine is the modern humane treatment of these unfortunates.

In Swift's hospital today you are taken to comfortable, well furnished rooms. They are made to look homelike; there is no suggest tion of restraint or the atmospher of a cell. Great Contrast When Compared to Modern Humane Methods.

In Old Days

Logan Clendening, M. D.

AST week I saw the desk on which Jonathan Swift wrote
"Gulliver's Travels." It is in Dublin, housed in the hospital which Swift founded, and to which he gave all his wealth when he died. He wanted to found a hospital for the treatment of mental dis-eases because he was impressed with the inhuman way the insane were handled in his day. Ironically, his own mind gave way and he was an inmate, and, I think, died in the spital he founded. The superintendent of Swift's, Dr. Richard Leeper, showed me over the hospital, which still is in use for mental patients. Indeed, it is the best, most modern and best equipped hospital of its kind in Ireland. Dr. Leeper is a great Swift enthusiast, and has made a sunday of palicy of palicy of the state of the s wonderful collection of relics of the stormy dean of St. Patrick's. He has also made a collection of the instruments used in the care of nsane patients in the old days. T saw the chairs and rings which were used to bind their legs. Patients were chained to the wall of a dungeon often for months. An other device used to quiet them was to put them in a revolving chair and spin them around until they were dizzy and vomited. The poor things! One of the brightest spots in the annals of medicine is he modern humane treatment of these unfortunates.

In Swift's hospital today you are aken to comfortable, well furnished rooms. They are made to look homelike; there is no suggestion of restraint or the atmosphere of a cell. These rooms lead into large sitting rooms where the pa-tients may congregate and talk, or play games together. All methods of treatment have a place in such an institution—there are rooms for massage, and for electrical treatments by diathermy applied to sore joints or muscles. Also apparatus for inducing arti-ficial fever, which is playing such an increasingly large part in the treatment of these maladies.

Mental or psychological treat-ment of all kinds is used. The ds of Freud are being accorded less and less prominent my observations can be depended upon. But such psychological re-lief as comes from occupational treatment form a department in this institution. There is great mental calm in learning to weave a basket or paint a picture. How Children Take Arrival Of New Baby

Youngsters May Resent Infant's Presence.

By Angelo Patri

Lately I saw a mother and he son, five years of age. The mother was in great distress and the child space of an instant. He raged and howled and kicked without apparent cause, or at the slightest sug gestion of a cause. He was wrecking an otherwise happy home.
"It all began when the baby came. I had talked to him and talked to him about the new baby before he came. I told him every day that no matter how many babies came I would always love him the same. I told him he need not ever worry about not being the only one. Daddy and I would al-ways love him. He seemed to think it was all right, but as soon as the baby came he began like this, and he gets worse every day. We just can't stand it any longer.'

A child under five years of age does not get much good out of talk. He feels what we want to convey rather than hears it in our words. It seemed to me that the mother, in her anxiety to have her little boy feel at ease about the new baby, had conveyed her fear and anxiety to the child and so set him in opposition to the newcomer. He thought that his mother was telling him not to be afraid of something, and he didn't know what that something was. It was connected with the new baby When the baby came he defended himself against the things his mother had told him not to fear, oss of her love and attention loss of place in the family, loss of face generally. His tantrums were his answer to the threat he felt in his mother's repeated warnings.

SYNOPSIS.

Sandra Brooke, now 21, and Stephen Eddy, five years older, have been reared in the Park avenue atmosphere. Their fathers formed the law firm of Eddy & Brooke, to which the name of Anthony Ancell has been added. Sandra knows that Ancell is in love with her mother, Enid. Since their child-bood, taheir parents have always regarded the marriage of Sandra and Stephen as understood, Stephen brings this up while their families are at their Maine lodge, saying there is no hurry as Sandra is just out of school and will want to be "dragged around a bit by the gang." Sandra has always liked Stephen but she agrees. Some months later, her brother David, 18, home for a week-end from school in New Haven, goes with her and Stephen to a hockey game at Madison Square Garden where her eyes and those of Ronny MacAllister, popular radio announcer meet, with mutual attraction. Sandra finds her eyes wandering back to the broadcasting booth. David knows Ronny from his broadcasting of college sports, says he's a "good egg," and Sandra suggests that David invite him to her party that night at home. She goes ahead and announces Ronny to her father, Chet, and her guests as a special attraction. But when Ronny arrives he first refuses a drink, then says he must get some sleep as tomorrow night he broadcasts a fight from Chicago, explains he's pretty poor as "a monkey-pody a smilling good night.
